

The presidential election next year is a critical crossroads for our country. . . but not necessarily in the way you think. . .

Dear fellow Christian,

Our nation is in dire straits. A spiritual battle is raging right now over America's destiny.

And that is why I'm asking you to read this crucial letter all the way to the end, then fill out the enclosed reply form.
Our survival as a nation may depend on your actions today.

You see, we are being led down the path of destruction by the national media and even by many deceived Christian leaders.

And unless we wake up to the facts, your God-given freedoms will be lost and replaced by an evil government plotting to force its Satanic doctrines upon the American people.

Please listen to what I'm saying. The future is wrought with danger. . . and the 2008 presidential election is ground zero. Its outcome will affect you and your family far more than you could ever imagine!

As the candidates for President parade across the political landscape, we must not allow ourselves to be swayed by their looks, charm, or even the message they bring. All of these can serve as a smokescreen hiding who the candidate really is and what he really believes.

Yes, we have the typical conservative-liberal debate that seems to be the centerpiece of most elections. But there's a more sinister enemy hiding behind a conservative -- and yes, even a Christian -- façade, an enemy that has a devious plan for our country, a plan that will see the Constitution thrown out and replaced by a theocracy. That enemy is Mormonism.

And Mitt Romney -- who many say will be the Republican nominee -- is not only a Mormon, he is a high priest in the Mormon Church.

Now, many think as long as a candidate holds to conservative values his religion shouldn't matter. I'm writing to tell you why it does matter! It's imperative you don't turn me off till you let me explain why electing a Mormon may be as dangerous to you as electing a Muslim!

Consider this quote: "[Our] government will preserve and defend those basic principles on which our nation has been built up. It regards Christianity as the foundation of our national morality and the family as the basis of national life."

The fact is, those words could have been uttered by any number of candidates, including Mitt Romney. But they were spoken by Adolph Hitler in 1933! And just as the German people fell for that madman's "Christian" and "pro-family" rhetoric, we are in jeopardy of falling for the lies of Romney and the Mormon Church's as they desperately camouflage their long-planned conspiracy to rule the United States.

Has the Christian church fallen so low that we will accept any candidate -- even one who wears "sacred underwear" inscribed with occultic symbols and believes he will one day be a god -- just because he espouses conservative values?

Incredibly, many prominent Christian leaders are extolling the "virtues" of Mitt Romney. They look at his slick press pieces, and listen to the siren song of "family values" that he sings. . . and fall for his massive deception.

As anyone who has studied Mormonism knows, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (LDS) is not Christian. In fact, Mormonism is basically a rehashed version of Islam!

That's right. There are shocking similarities between the two religions, ranging from their "prophets" being visited by "angels" who informed them they were "hand picked" by God to their doctrines promoting polygamy.

In fact, despite the charming photographs of Mitt Romney and his wife of 38 years that are splashed across the press, he expects to be rewarded with many wives when he arrives in the Mormon "celestial glory." This is something you won't hear him talk about on the campaign trail.

But beware! There is another similarity between Mormonism and Islam you must know as we progress through another election cycle. Both religions believe the use of force against "infidels" is not only justifiable . . . it has often been encouraged!

While most Americans are aware of the terrorist acts committed by Muslims in the name of their god -- such as the murders of 3,000 people on September 11, 2001 -- fewer know of the killings and massacres perpetrated by Mormons.

Believe it or not, a Mormon war party led by one of their bishops acting under the authority of "prophet" Brigham Young massacred well over 100 men, women, and children in southern Utah exactly 144 years -- to the day -- before the Twin Tower attacks!

Just like the murdering mob of 1857, the Mormon Church today believes in retribution. Many older leaders of the Mormon Church took an oath of vengeance against the United States to "avenge the blood of the prophets (Joseph and Hiram Smith). . ." Although the oath is no longer officially part of LDS doctrine, it was to be taught "to your children and your children's children, unto the third and fourth generation."

That would include Mitt Romney.

Those bound by this oath -- and their children and grandchildren who have been brainwashed into believing it -- have thereby declared themselves enemies of America!

Yet Mitt Romney -- a Temple Mormon and High Priest -- claims he will "support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic," while owing his supreme allegiance to the Mormon Church.

The simple truth is the Mormon Church's history is filled with violence. . . and splinter groups that hold to the original teachings of Joseph Smith and Brigham Young continue to kill in the name of their god.

This penchant for violence, on the part of both Muslims and Mormons, poses an extremely dangerous problem for you, your family, all Americans and their government!

Hanging by a Thread

There is a Mormon prophecy -- little known outside their church -- that in "the last days" the United States Constitution would "hang by a thread" and will be rescued by the Mormon elders. This 1843 prediction by LDS founder Joseph Smith is about to come true according to many Mormons.

(over, please . . .)

They see the fulfillment each time a Mormon runs for president, beginning with Joseph Smith's candidacy in 1844 . . . and they see its fulfillment in Mitt Romney and that's why Mormons keep pouring millions of dollars into his campaign.

You see, in the early days of the Mormon Church, Smith implemented a program called the United Order in which all personal property would be turned over to the church. The Church leaders dispersed it as they saw fit. It came to be known as the "Kingdom of God."

To be frank, it was soon decided that the so-called "Kingdom of God" would succeed only when a Mormon prophet ruled over not only the church. . . but the civil government as well. Under this theocracy, deviant Mormon doctrines such as polygamy, baptisms for the dead, and blood atonement (killing someone in order to "save" his soul) would become the law of the land.

What's more, according to Smith's prophecy, the theocracy would come into existence when the Constitution hangs by a thread. A great war or revolution would take place and the Mormon elders would step forward to save the country, thereby ushering in their version of the Kingdom of God.

A Plan for America

The question we face today is this: Is this simply a half-baked "prophecy" from a 19th century nut that we need not fear. . . or is the very existence of America at stake?

The simple truth is the Mormon temple in Washington, D.C. -- our nation's capitol -- has a large room on its upper floor that I believe was designed to house their theocratic government. From this room, Mitt Romney, along with the Mormon prophet and the council of elders plan to rule the United States of America.

Yes, it sounds far-fetched.

The point is that just like the radical Muslims, the Mormon Church has a plan for America. Because of this it grooms candidates for high office -- like Mitt Romney -- from among the Temple Mormons. These candidates have taken blood oaths of obedience in an LDS Temple ritual. First, they learn the secret signs, tokens, and handshakes necessary to pass the sentinels and eventually enter the Celestial glory where, they believe, they will become gods and goddesses, and populate new earths!

Next, they swear obedience to certain laws that govern their membership in the church, their behavior, and their obedience to the prophet.

Romney and the other high level Temple Mormons clearly know that their "Kingdom of God" is, in reality, a Mormon one-world government run by the church elders under the leadership of their prophet.

Add to this the fact that a disproportionate number of Mormons are in the higher levels of the CIA, FBI, military intelligence, the armed forces, and all levels of city, state, and federal governments including the Senate, House of Representatives, and, at times, even the Cabinet and White House staff!

Simply put, you must understand that these sworn oaths of obedience to the Mormon Church represent a clear conflict of interest for all Mormons who have also pledged their allegiance to the United States. Romney's church oaths supersede any civil oaths he will take.

It even trumps the United States Constitution and his pledge to honor and defend it should he be elected President.

While Mitt Romney tries to take a public tact that soft pedals his Mormon beliefs, as a High Priest and Temple Mormon he is bound by his blood oath to put the Mormon Church's agenda first. His allegiance is to the current Mormon "Prophet" -- not to the American people.

However a Mormon like Romney becomes President -- whether elected outright or ascending to the office from the Vice Presidency -- there is every reason to believe that he will immediately begin to gather around him increasing numbers of zealous Temple Mormons in strategic places at the highest levels of government.

You see, a crisis of some sort -- perhaps a Muslim terrorist attack -- could occur and the Mormon Church will be ready to spring into action. Millions of Mormons with their guns, ammunition, and year's supply of food could play a key role as they attempt to fulfill Joseph Smith's prophecy.

And not only does Mormonism predict their sect will "save" America, their founder set his church's precedent for rebellion against the United States when he attempted an armed uprising in 1834. His bid to "redeem Zion" and establish a theocracy in Independence, Missouri, met with defeat at the hands of the state militia.

But will the next attempt succeed?

The fact is, that depends on your response. I need you to stand with me in alerting the American public to the danger posed by the Mormon Church and Mitt Romney.

The truth must be told! Or you and I will pay the consequences!

Tragically, many Christians believe a candidate's religion shouldn't matter as long as he holds to conservative values. But now you understand why that way of thinking is wrong. . . and why the Mormon Church's "master plan" for America must be exposed today!

Please take the time right now to fill out the enclosed reply form and send it right back to me. I must know today that you agree with me. . . and that you will help me warn others about the dangers we face from Mitt Romney.

And when you return your reply form, please enclose your best possible gift to help me get this crucial warning out to millions of Christians all across the nation. This message is too important to let it be muzzled by the Mormon Church and Mitt Romney's high-paid publicity team. Together, you and I must lay bare the hidden secret of the Mormon plan to turn America into a "Latter Day Saint" dictatorship. Time is of the essence!

My friend, I know you must be shocked by what I've shared with you. Many have long believed the Mormons like Mitt Romney to be Christians who were just a little "different." But as I've shown in this letter, many of the Mormon Church's key doctrines are in direct conflict with biblical teachings. Despite the obvious doctrinal falsehoods that condemn Mormonism to the status of a deviant cult, many still fall for the lie that Mormonism is Christian! This would be a dire mistake for you to make!

Let's face it! The aberrant doctrines espoused by the Mormon Church prove their guilt:

- Mormonism teaches that there are many gods. The Bible says ". . . For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus."

- Mormonism teaches that human beings can eventually attain godhood. The Bible says ". . . there is no God beside me."

- Mormonism teaches that Jesus and Lucifer were brothers. The Bible says "For by [Jesus] all things were created. . ." And that includes Lucifer and the other angels!

- Mormonism teaches that Jesus sweated for our sins in the garden of Gethsemane. The Bible says "And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven."

- Mormonism teaches that God the Father was once a man who eventually rose to godhood. The Bible says that ". . . even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God."

- Mormonism teaches that works are a requirement for salvation. The Bible says "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: Not of works, lest any man should boast."

Surely this is enough to convince any Christian that the "Latter Day Saints" are not saints at all! And this is but a sampling of Mormonism's gross errors!

In fact, their perverted belief that humans can ascend to godhood mimics Satan's tempting of Eve in the Garden of Eden.

Help me sound the alarm that one day the Mormon Church plans to replace the Constitution with a Mormon theocracy. Mitt Romney's political success indicates this may be sooner than most have thought. Do you really want a president who believes he will someday become a god? Is that who you want occupying the most powerful position in the world . . . the United States presidency?

(please turn over . . .)

We cannot allow the deception to continue any longer. Now's the time to take action. We must protect our nation, the Constitution, and our families from this foul plot.

Please, join with me and Freedom Defense Advocates in exposing the lies of the Mormon Church and their plan to hijack our freedoms through false prophet Joseph Smith's "White Horse Prophecy."

I beseech you today to enlist in this effort to shine the light of truth on the darkness of Mormonism.

Yours for the Truth,

John Boyd, Ph.D.

P.S. Time is of the essence. I must hear from you today. With every passing day, the Mormon propaganda machine deceives more and more Americans into falling for their fraudulent "gospel."

And with your gift of $35 or more, I will send you my DVD entitled, "Will the Latter Days Saints Church Take Over the American Government?" For a $60 or more gift, you will receive that DVD in addition to "Is the Temple the Way to Ecstasy or Doom?" They're part of my DVD encyclopedia of Mormonism, so please, return your reply form and gift today.

P.P.S. Keep up on the Romney/Mormon campaign by visiting FDA's website at www.ExposeMittRomney.com. We'll feature breaking news, editorials, interviews, and other information about this cult member's attempt to win the presidency.
